ALEX SWANSON TOO MUCH FOR MACKLEY

Rob Roy Got First Fall in Fourteen Minutes.

CHAMP HAD HANDS FULL

New Yorker Was Pulled Out to His Limit in Fast Bout—Preliminaries Were Good.

Rob Roy Mackley lost his wrestling match with Alex Swanson, champion welterweight of this country, last night at the Washington Light Infantry Armory, but made Swanson feel himself out to the fullest and furnished one of the best bouts ever seen in the Capital.

The first fall was gained by Mackley in fourteen minutes by a half-nelson, wrist and combination leg hold. The second fall went to Swanson in thirty-seven minutes on a chancery and combination crotch hold. Swanson gained the third and the match in eighteen minutes on a chancery and further arm hold.

Mackley Was Aggressive.

Mackley was almost as aggressive and active as when he stood off Joe Grant for fifty-five minutes, but nevertheless it was apparent that the two matches had come too close together and he would have done better had he postponed the visit of Swanson for another week.

Swanson weighed just about as much as Mackley, but was built along different lines. He has powerful legs, a large neck, and arms which do not reveal their real strength until he is thoroughly extended. His defensive work with his legs is the best that has ever been seen here, and the result that Mackley was puzzled by the clever manner in which he was blocked time after time when he ordinarily would have obtained the hold he was seeking. Swanson's legs and feet acted as if they were hands and were always in the right place, with the result that Mackley was puzzled by the clever manner in which he was blocked time after time when he ordinarily would have obtained the hold he was seeking. Swanson's legs and feet acted as if they were hands and were always in the right place, with the result that Mackley was puzzled by the clever manner in which he was blocked time after time when he ordinarily would have obtained the hold he was seeking.

Swanson's Speed Wonderful.

The champion was quick as a cat, and reminded the spectators somewhat of Fred Beil, although when Beil was here he made a very easy exhibition of his skill. He could raise Mackley in the air and throw him back with the Washington man underneath faster than any of the other grapplers who have visited our beautiful city this season, and on several occasions would greatly exceed the voice of the voluble Rob Roy in the land, for Swanson bounced him on the mat with such enthusiasm that it was feared he never would come back.

On the other hand, Mackley put a crimp in several of Swanson's most carefully laid plans. One of his tricks was to twist out of a croch and hammerlock. Swanson was not to be taken in by this, and he held something like that which Mackley used with such great results against Tom Jenkins. It was Mackley's making something like that which Mackley squirmed out of it as his admirers made a great outcry. Swanson industriously tried to get at Mackley's legs, but he threw George Bothner's shoulder out of place in their first struggle, and he did it in his own way. He was not only once did he come very near getting it on Mackley, and then the man of many words rolled into safety.

Champ Swallowed Some Teeth.

Another of Mackley's feats was to twist out of a very pretty beginning of a croch and hammerlock. Swanson was not to be taken in by this, and he held something like that which Mackley used with such great results against Tom Jenkins. It was Mackley's making something like that which Mackley squirmed out of it as his admirers made a great outcry. Bag Punching by Huseman.

In the first preliminary, Young Beel lost a fast bout to Young Hoover. At the start Beel was the aggressor, but toward the end he tired and Hoover was quick to take advantage. The second curtain raiser was to have been between Jack Spaulding and Fred Hoover for the lightweight championship of the District, but as Hoover failed to show up, for some unaccountable reason, an unknown aspirant went on the program and was thrown after an unmerciful grueling by Spaulding. Spaulding exhibited a great improvement over his last appearance, and if he keeps at the business should make good.

Besides the main bout, the bag punching exhibition by Frank Huseman, a local wrestler of some note, and athletic instructor at the Epiphany Church gymnasium, was the feature. Huseman's performance was remarkably clever and highly entertaining.

Among those present was Strong Man Farley in a new Easter suit and a honk-honk voice, which at various times was highly disconcerting to the other men.

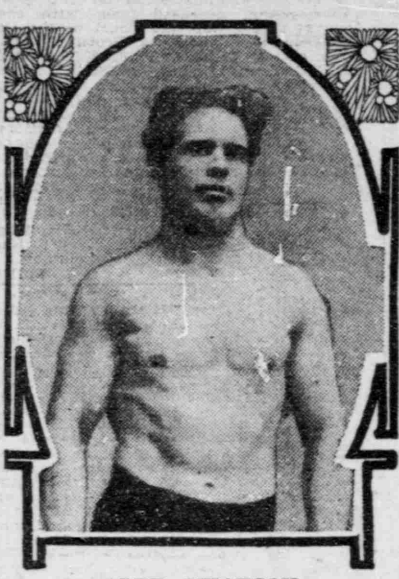

CORCORAN STARS WON.

The Corcoran Stars baseball aggregation won a loose contest from the Young Georgetowns yesterday by 11 to 4. The work of G. Keane and C. Fowler at the bat and the effective pitching of Cantwell were the features. The Corcorans want games with all teams in and about Washington. Address challenges to C. Cross, 2903 M street northwest.

LIBRARY DEFEATED WINTERS.

In a hit and run game played on the Coliseum grounds Monday the baseball team representing the Library Pool Parlor defeated the Winters. The Library Parlor by the decisive score of 24 to 5. The pitching of Cleveland, for the winners, was mainly superior to the victory.

GEORGETOWN LOST TEN-INNING GAME

Parsons' Twirling Puzzled Blue and Gray.

SIMON GOT ANOTHER HOMER

Errors by West Enders Proved Costly. Cantwell and Drennan Did Well in the Box.

Yale hammered out a victory from Georgetown in the tenth inning yesterday on the Georgetown University Field after a hit and run game, by 8 to 5.

The New Havenites put Parsons into the box again against the Blue and Gray, and he proved more effective this time than he did last week, when Georgetown won by the close margin of 2 to 1. Errors on the part of Captain Smith's men were also largely responsible for the defeat of the local collegians. Seven costly ones were chalked up in the Georgetown box with only four against the visitors.

Cantwell Did Well.

Cantwell performed nine innings for the locals, when he was replaced by Larry Drennan. Parsons equaled this season's record of Byram, the Princeton pitcher, by fanning ten batters, while Cantwell and Drennan had one and two, respectively, to their credit.

Yale started things off in the first inning, when two singles, a bunt, and a sacrifice gave them a run. Both were blanked in the next, but in the third after Yale went out in order, Devlin singled, went to second on a sacrifice, and then took third. Scheller's outfield throw to Smith bunted and when Parsons threw low to Tad Jones Devlin romped over the plate. Again in the fourth Yale was blanked and Georgetown scored another of Simon's homers to the gym, with two men out.

Yale Tied Score.

In the sixth neither could get a run over the counting block, but in the next Yale tied the score on an error, a passed ball, a hit, and a fly to deep center. With two men down in the seventh Georgetown started what looked to be a repetition of the rally which won the former game from the Blues last week by scoring three runs.

In their half of the next, however, Yale piled out three also, tying the score and necessitating an extra inning, as both went out in order in the tenth. The tenth was given to the visitors on errors.

The score: R H O A E. Georgetown, 8 10 10 3 0 0-5. Yale, 5 6 20 12 4 1-5. Earned runs—Georgetown, 2; Yale, 1. First base on errors—Georgetown, 2; Yale, 6. First base on balls—Georgetown, 2; Yale, 2. Inning struck out—By Parsons, 10; by Cantwell, 2; by Drennan, 2. Home runs—Simon, 2. Two-base hits—Smith, Mahoney, Scheller, Kinney, Stolen bases—Devlin, O'Brien to Kinney to Camp. Hit by pitcher—By Parsons, 2; by Drennan, 2. Wild pitch—Parsons, 1. Umpire—Bette. Time of game—2 hours and 5 minutes.

BLOOMINGDALE HAS NEW ATHLETIC CLUB

At a joint meeting of the Fulton Athletic Club and the Athletic Stars, two Bloomingdale associations last night, it was decided that the two clubs should unite under the name of the Reservoir Athletics.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Harry M. Brooks; vice president, William G. Ray; secretary, Allen Sherman; manager of baseball team, Thomas White; William L. Yates was chosen director general of athletics, and Wallace Robbins was elected captain of the baseball team.

The athletic committee has arranged to buy uniforms at the earliest possible moment. Grounds have been secured at First and V streets.

WOODS COMMERCIAL DEFEATED EASTERN

The Woods Commercial College baseball team defeated Eastern High School on Monday by 11 to 5, in a poorly played game.

The Easterners got but four hits off the delivery of White, who was on the rubber for the college. White struck out seven batters. The High School tried out a new twirler in the person of Zirkle, who did creditable work, but the Easterners were not to be taken in. The game was chiefly through errors that Woods won the game. Woods College would like to arrange games with all teams in the District and vicinity.

Remarkable Ball Game Pitched by Falkenberg

Gave Seven Passes, Hit Two Men, Made Costly Wild Pitch, Was Hit Eight Times, Yet Won.

And yet they say there is no luck in baseball! A man who would say that after seeing yesterday's game, in which Washington defeated the Athletics by 5 to 2, would say there was no luck in fishing, and everybody knows there is luck in that.

Falkenberg won a game which is practically in a class by itself. It is not likely that in this season or the next there will be a contest of the same kind. He is the most nerve-racking young man who ever entered the box, and a person with a weak heart has no business watching him pitch. He can get himself into and out of more tight places than a crooked lawyer, but while he is in there, like the bad legal boy he is sure to come to grief some time.

Nineteen Reached First, Two Scored.

He established the remarkable record of giving seven bases on balls, hitting two men, making a wild pitch with a man on base, allowing two triples and six singles, and forcing a tally, yet escaping with a total of two runs against him.

Besides the wild and uncanny things Falkenberg did to put men on first and sew up the game, Nill and Lave Cross each made an error that put men on first. In all, nineteen men reached first, and only two completed the circuit. Can you beat that?

Stahl Gets Bounced.

Apart from the devious and uncertain ways of Falkenberg in the box, the game was chiefly notable for a foolish outburst by Jake Stahl against the decisions of Silk O'Loughlin on balls and strikes in the third inning. O'Loughlin's eye was not all that it might have been, but there was no reason for Stahl becoming foolish with the heat and making his peevish protest. It set a bad example to the other men and put him in a poor light as a manager. O'Loughlin gave him the bounce right away, and when he turned back to the mound he was told further he was out of the grounds. It was the first case of the G. B. this year in the American League, and Stahl was a bad little man to act so.

Another feature was the pinch hitting of John Anderson. The big Swede made three singles, and with them drove in four runs. What made his work all the more impressive was that in each case the man who followed him at the bat got out, so that it was a case of Anderson getting those tallies across the pan or their not coming in at all. Besides words, Anderson really won the game.

Nice Work, Jones.

Still another angle was the bubbling up of Theory Jones as a batter. People have become so accustomed to considering Jones a poor stickler that it is taken for granted that he will not accomplish much when he goes to the bat. His first attempt yesterday was a neat single to left, after which he stole second, where he died. The next time up he discarded the theory, took a chance at the first ball and banged it to center for a triple. He never stirred the legs of an outfielder. His third time up he fanned, just to show that he did not entirely forgotten his first principles.

NOTES OF THE NOTABLES

Maybe that Washington team will beat better than you think. Because it did not drive Waddell and Bender out of the box in the first two games is not saying it cannot hit other pitchers in the American League. Things got so warm for Dyerg yesterday that he was taken out after making his triple in the fourth inning, and Coakley pitched the remaining innings. Coakley could not prevent timely hits which netted two earned runs.

Balting umpires this early in the season is not good form, although some of our very best people are doing it.

Charley Hickman was right there with the giant swing in the fifth inning and hammered out a triple which later became a run.

Four triples and not a double.

John Anderson's hit in the third inning, which put Schaffly across the plate, was more of a mistake than a play. He hit two men on the ball and what was meant for a homer over left field fence became a dirty little chop toward third that nobody could reach.

Silk O'Loughlin sprung a painful surprise on our brave boys in the fifth round. Anderson was on first by virtue of his third single, which had brought in Hickman. He started to steal, but

GOOD MEN WILL MEET IN BALTIMORE ON FRIDAY

Manager of Eureka Club Is Arranging Series of Carnival—Young Britt Meets Kid Yanger.

BALTIMORE, April 18.—Washington, Philadelphia, and Baltimore boxers will be seen in an intercity boxing carnival shortly, if the present plans of Manager Al Herford, of the Eureka Athletic Club, of this city, materialize. Manager Al is now in negotiation with Billy McCarthy, of the Washington Sporting Club, of Philadelphia, who is one of the original promoters of the plan. McCarthy has a string of well-known Quaker City boxers on his staff, including "Tink" Russell, "Young" Eric, and a number of other lesser light.

While the boxers in this city and of Washington are not as plentiful as in Philadelphia, Manager Herford thinks that he can secure two or three good boys who can hold their own with the Quakers. The all-star bouts of the Eureka Athletic Club at the Bijou Theater Friday night may bring about some likely boys. Scroggs will have a chance to show his ability when he meets "Kid" Yanger, of Washington, in the wind-up of ten rounds. Both Lowe and Scroggs are credited with victories over Joe Tipman.

One of the most promising boys who will appear in the lightweight class on that night will be "Young" Britt, the local 105-pound champion, who meets "Kid" Yanger. Britt is a terror in his class, having defeated eleven of the little men in his class. Benny Finckel, little experience in the game. What should prove a hard go will be the ten-round bout between Tommy Feltz, of Baltimore, and Danny Lewis, of Washington.

JOHN WALSH MAY HOLD "IMMUNITY BATH" TICKET

CHICAGO, April 18.—An "immunity bath" may be extended by the government to John R. Walsh, and the charge that he misappropriated $3,000,000 of the funds of the Chicago National Bank may be dropped.

A fourth continuance of the case was granted upon request of District Attorney Morrison. He said Mr. Walsh had submitted a detailed statement of his defense to show that the Government acted hastily and without full knowledge, that the Government expert who examined the bank did not examine Walsh's railroad securities or their relation to the bank.

Mr. Walsh denies that any money was misappropriated. The district attorney will investigate, and if a prosecution is decided upon the evidence will be submitted to the May grand jury. Tillman's resolution in the Senate is looked upon as an attack upon Walsh, and the clearing house banks which came to his rescue, in the direct query "Whether or not the national banks of Chicago have recently engaged in transactions beyond their lawful powers in connection with the recent failure of a bank in that city."

ST. PAUL PAPERS CAN'T DESCRIBE HANGINGS

ST. PAUL, April 18.—Judge Bunn, in the district court of Ramsey county, has filed an order upholding the indictments brought by the grand jury against the St. Paul Dispatch, the Daily News, and the Daily News, for publishing detailed stories of the hanging of William Williams, a murderer, who was put to death in the county jail here March 13.

The newspapers were indicted under what is known as the John Day-Smith law, which forbids the publication of details of hangings.

The newspapers demurred to the indictment, and attacked the constitutionality of the law.

Personal Comment on Men and Things in the Field of Sports

BOXING.

Arthur Cote, of Maine, proved altogether too fast for Tommy Quill, of Brockton, in their fifteen round bout at the Rhode Island Athletic Club, at Thornton, last night.

Bert Keyes had all the best of the fighting in his bout with Clarence Forbes at the New York Morrisania Athletic Club, Keyes doing all the fighting, punishing Forbes severely around the body. He kept Forbes clinched to avoid punishment.

At the Marlborough Athletic Club, of New York, last night Jack Clancy, of Philadelphia, defeated Jim Donovan in the star bout. At the finish Donovan was in bad shape. In the semi-windup George Zeigler knocked out Jimmy Connors in the first round.

Morris Harris, of Newark, defeated J. Phillips before the Philadelphia Twentieth Century Athletic Club last night. Just before the end of the third round Phillips' backers threw up the sponge.

AMATEUR ATHLETICS.

If Georgetown keeps up its present rate, it won't be a case of whether Princeton or Yale wins the Intercollegiate championship. It'll be more a case of whether they can defeat the Blue and Gray.

It is practically settled that the Central High School relay four will go to Charlotteville, where it will be pitted with the crack Woodbury Forest School team.

Hillman and Mitchell, the two members of the U. S. Olympic team, who were injured on the trip to Athens, are reported as being practically recovered, but the shock of the accident will undoubtedly have a bad effect upon the performance of these two men.

Larry Drennan's work against Princeton on Monday was a surprise even to his most ardent admirers. Although he had but three strike-outs to his credit, while the two Tiger twirlers were marked up with seventeen between them, the Georgetown boy, with good support, was the equal at least of either Byram or Heininger.

There was some dispute over Simon's home run which won the game for the locals on Monday. The ground rule at the West End School is to the effect that a ball which goes over the bank shall be counted a home run. The Princetonians argued that such a ruling had not been stated to them, and that it should not count, as the runner could easily have been caught at the plate. Chief Betts, however, decided in favor of the Blue and Gray.

Reports from Wesleyan state that Cunningham, last year's Central High captain and crack pitcher, is making a record for himself in baseball as well as football at the Northern college. In one of the early games "Cunny" won the game with a magnificent homer, scoring two runs.

The Carlisle Indian game today should bring out a crowd, if Washingtonians are as anxious to see the Redskins on the diamond as they have been on the gridiron for the past few years. Wahoo, the famous football player, will be in the line-up.

Rodney McCathran, who was on the pitching staff at Central High last year, and is now at the Agricultural and Mechanical School of North Carolina, will probably do the twirling for the South-erners in the game with Georgetown on Friday, April 27.

Dick Woodward, said by some to be the best amateur catcher in the city, will appear again this year behind the willow in the Church League. Dick expects to go to University of Pennsylvania next year.

"Beer" Field, of Eastern High School football fame, now dropped up into one of the best first basemen in the city, School League this year. His fielding is excellent, but he is a little weak with the stick.

Western will miss Morse at first sorely. Morse was not only a fast, heady fielder, but was always good for at least one hit a game. Morse is at present attending a Northern school, where he has gained a reputation as an all-round athlete on the gridiron, track, and diamond.

EPISCOPAL BASEBALL LEAGUE FALLS THROUGH

Fails to Organize for Season—Epiphany Chapel, However, Will Have Team. Games With Georgetown Memorial.

The Epiphany Chapel baseball team has organized for the season despite the fact that there will be no Episcopal Church League this year. The team will go under the name of "The Chaps" and will play a schedule of two games a week with the Georgetown Memorial team every Wednesday and Saturday during the season. Next Saturday afternoon these teams will play their first game at the Bureau of the League, which has been secured for the season.

The Rev. Claudius F. Smith, of the Epiphany Chapel, who is managing the team stated this morning that he will consider the applications of different teams of the District for the formation of a league similar to that of the Episcopal League last year, and that as soon as a sufficient number of teams are accepted, the league will be formed and a schedule arranged.

It is also the plan of the Epiphany management to erect seats about the diamond, and to have the entire Epiphany in all applications and challenges should be addressed to Rev. Claudius F. Smith, 1105 C street southwest.

OLD SORES OFTEN LEAD TO CANCER

Whenever a sore or ulcer does not heal and shows signs of becoming chronic, it should arouse suspicion, because many of these places lead to Cancer. It may appear as an ordinary sore at first, and is given treatment as such, with some simple salve, wash or plaster, with the hope that the place will heal, but the real seat of the trouble is in the blood and cannot be reached by external remedies, and soon the sore will return. After awhile the deadly poison begins to eat into the surrounding flesh and the ulcer spreads rapidly, becoming more offensive and alarming until at last the sufferer finds he is afflicted with Cancer. Cancerous ulcers often start from a boil, wart, mole or pimple, which has been bruised or roughly handled, showing that the taint is in the blood, perhaps inherited. Another cause for non-healing ulcers and sores is the remains of some constitutional disease or the effects of a long spell of sickness. S. S. S. goes down to the very root of the trouble and cures so thoroughly that there is never any sign of the trouble in after years. As soon as the system gets under the influence of S. S. S. the place begins to improve, the discharge gradually grows less, the inflammation leaves, the flesh resumes its healthy color, and soon the sore is well. Book on sores and ulcers and medical advice without charge.
